CHAROLAIS

VIEWPOINT

J. Neil Orth, Executive Vice President

If only we knew then what we know now!

An international market

For those of us feeling somewhat geographically challenged, now is the time to review what we should have learned in middle school. Way back then, countries on the other side of the planet seemed so very far away. Their cultures and languages were different. Unless we saw other parts of the world in the military, it wasn't likely we would have a need to know all that much about undeveloped or emerging countries.

During the 1960s and 70s, the U.S. beef industry experienced extraordinary imports of European cattle and new breeds. Although Charolais had been a part of the American beef industry landscape for a couple of decades, our industry saw an expansion of beef cattle imports, including Charolais, as well as adding breeds we had never heard of, such as Chianina, Gelbvieh, Limousin, Simmental and Salers, just to name a few.

These breeds, mostly from France, Germany and Italy, not only brought very different genetics to a predominantly Angus and Hereford registered seedstock business, but the breeds represented new opportunities. Cattle feeders and packers became interested in a steer that could produce more pounds of red meat with less patience and a great veterinarian willing to work with a country you may know little or nothing about, foreign emissaries, the federal government and monumental logistical hurdles.

The global population increase reported by Robert and others is not simply an abstract number. The U.S. will undoubtedly continue to be relied upon to supply food to the world. What's different is the fact that emerging countries are realizing that in order to sustain their cultures, economies and improve the quality of life for their citizens, governments must invest in sustainable food production systems where geographically possible.

The world is relying on us to continue to educate our own rural population, and develop technology and business models that enable the next generation to return to the family farm or ranch. The world is relying on us to continue to make genetic advancements that have the potential to produce more meat protein using fewer resources. Already, many countries are relying on us to provide intellectual information and, in some cases, personnel and direction as they develop efficient, fat. We were still many years from a true value-added system, but the proverbial light switch came on.

“Many of us may never consider far off parts of the world as our market. But, you can bet they see our production system as a pathway to their own sustainability.”

Until recently, largely due to geopolitical barriers and lack of global demand, the U.S. has effectively been prohibited from exporting live cattle en masse. Some registered producers had limited success in exporting embryos and semen distribution companies have exported frozen semen for many years. Our North American neighbors, both Canada and Mexico, have been consistent buyers of U.S. registered seedstock for many years. Today, however, the pins on the map are beginning to regularly exceed our continent.

In last month's issue of the Charolais Journal, Robert Williams reported the increased interest in U.S. genetics from many other parts of the world. Robert discussed the projected global population increase in the next 25 years. Robert reported a significant increase of breeding females exported from 2007 through 2012.

Wes Ishmael, in a recent article written for BEEFvet, actually reported a 38% increase of breeding female exports from 2011 through 2012, with cattle going to at least 22 countries. The same article reported nearly 1,500 U.S. breeding bulls were exported to 17 countries last year.

Any producer that has successfully executed a sale to countries outside North America will tell you the process is complicated and tedious. Most of those same producers will tell you the process is worth pursuing, but requires extraordinary sustainable beef production systems. And finally, those countries are relying on our registered seedstock industry's supply of genetically advanced beef cattle to populate their systems.

By the time you receive this magazine, late spring will be upon us. The next generation's beef producer is preparing for national events, including the AIJCA National Show and Leadership Conference, July 14-19, at Texarkana, Arkansas. Some are making decisions about furthering their educations, completing scholarship and college applications. These young people, much like the global population predications, are not abstractions. We must do all within our power to make certain every young adult wishing to return to beef production has an opportunity.

Young AIJCA members are already involved in a breed that has proven value at every segment of the food chain. Many years ago, as feeders and packers were realizing the value of more red meat and less fat, Charolais was the first continental breed to meet the industry's rigid test. The beef industry has harnessed the power of incredible intellect, used science and developed technology to advance beef production beyond our wildest imagination a half-century ago.

Many of us may never consider far off parts of the world as our market. But, you can bet they see our production system as a pathway to their own sustainability. Some of the countries purchasing registered U.S. seedstock didn't exist 20 years ago. Most likely that's why we couldn't point to it on a map today. At least that's my story! CJ

American- International Charolais Association

The AICA is the official registry for Charolais and Charbray cattle in the United States. Charolais cattle were first brought to the U.S. in 1936. In 1957, the American Charolais Breeders Association and the International Charolais Breeders Association merged forming the present AICA. Membership in the AICA is obtainable when the applicant has ownership in at least one animal, and has paid the initial membership fee of $125. AICA annual dues are $100.

Female Inventories Now Due

WHR Inventories received between May 1 through May 31st - $20 per female.
Received after June 1st - $32 per female.

Record your 2013 born calves

Record your 2013 born calves using AICA's online system. Add the data as the calves are born and continue to update the records as you add weaning and yearling data. Register the calves at any time by just adding the name.

Advertising Deadline

The deadline to place advertising in the June/July 2013 Charolais Journal - AICA Directory Issue is May 10. Contact your area field representative about advertising opportunities in this issue as well as other available options.

Junior National Entry Deadlines

The 2013 AIJCA Junior National will be held in Texarkana, Ark. July 14-19. Early registration deadline is May 10 and the FINAL registration with late fees is May 20. Ownership deadline is May 20. Entries will be completed online at www.charolaisusa.com. Complete registration information can be found in the April issue and online. Make sure to read all the information to learn what's new this year!

Performance Deadline

Make sure your performance data is included in the Fall 2013 Sire Summary Analysis. Data must be submitted by July 15th to be included in the Fall Sire Summary.

AI Sires

AI Sires used "out of herd" must be DNA tested before calves can be registered. Check the bull's record to make sure the DNA work has been done before submitting registration papers. AICA rules require signatures on bulls you do not own. Signatures can be submitted online, fax, mail or e-mail.

AICA Billing Statements

AICA statements are sent at the beginning of each month. Any activity from the previous month will be listed on your statement.

CharolaisUSA.com Advertising and Marketing Opportunities

The AICA website (www.charolaisusa.com) offers a variety of online advertising opportunities. Banner ads can be linked directly to your website or sale catalog. The ads are $250 per month or $200 for two weeks for advertisers in the Charolais Journal or Charolais Edge. The general banner ad rate is $400 per month. Normally, the ads will be put on the website within 2 days after submission.

Want to reach your customers directly? Email blasts are now offered to drop your advertisement straight into the inbox of thousands! Email blasts work great for upcoming sales or any ad that runs in the Charolais Journal. Email blasts can be linked directly to your website or sale catalog. Email blasts are $250 each for advertisers in the Charolais Journal or Charolais Edge. The general email blast rate is $400 each.

CharolaisUSA.com advertising packages are available for those advertising in the Charolais Journal or Charolais Edge. Promote your sale with a 1 month banner ad and 1 email blast for $400.

The Charolais Journal is now offering more services to sale booklet advertisers. Not only is the Charolais Journal an excellent spot to promote your sale, but sale booklets are now online! Easily accessible on the AICA website, check out the sales coming near you.

AICA using GeneSeek

The AICA is now using GeneSeek for parentage testing, contact Marilou Wegner to request a kit. The kit is specific to the animal being tested. AICA rules require AI sire and donor cows be tested if they have not been.

AICA Mail

Please make sure all correspondence for AICA or the Charolais Journal is addressed to: 11700 NW Plaza Circle, Kansas City, Mo 64153

Larry Lehman Brings

'All or None'

Approach to AICA Presidency

by Linda Eck

Larry Lehman won't be walking into the lead role of the American-International Charolais Association, instead he'll be approaching the position much like many other things he's done during his lifetime, he'll be diving in, giving it his all.

Growing up in central Texas, Lehman's love of Charolais emerged upon his return to the Lone Star state after spending 25 years working in the telecommunications industry. Now, because of his "all or none" approach to becoming involved, he will soon take over as president of the AICA.

A member of the AIJCA in 1966-67, he has experienced first-hand the impact of Charolais in the show ring, exhibiting a Charolais steer in the first ever Charolais steer show to be held at the San Antonio Stock Show. And, while he didn't realize that 30 years later he would be building an impressive herd of registered Charolais, he certainly never thought fate would bring him to the presidency of the breed association.

A graduate of the University of Texas with a degree in mechanical engineering, Lehman spent 25 years in telecommunications, completing his career in St. Louis. Well-rooted in Texas, it was no surprise that when his first vocation ended he would return to those roots. Texas was home and "we always knew we would return there," chided Lehman's wife Robbie, a former city girl from Dallas who admits, "20 years ago I didn't know a steer from a heifer."

Moving his family from St. Louis to Celina, Texas in the mid 90s turned out to be a quick start toward a new way of life for the Lehman family. Having grown up just south of Austin near the Michaelis Ranch and one of the oldest Charolais herds in the United States, Lehman had grown to favor Charolais cattle while growing up. With this history, Charolais was a natural choice once the family decided to take up ranching. They started by purchasing two Charolais show heifers for daughters Lori and Laci in November of 1994 and by July of 1997 the Lehmans were running over a 100 head of registered Charolais. Adding icing to the cake in 1998, Laci exhibited the Junior National Champion Female. They were hooked. Hooked on Charolais, and hooked on junior programs.

"Junior activities are definitely the future of the breed," says Lehman, who has served as chairman of the junior council since 1999. He and Robbie helped spearhead the 2000 and 2007 AIJCA Junior National events in Wichita Falls and are co-chairing the 2013 "Charolais Drive In" set for July 14-19 in Texarkana.

"I have enjoyed the junior program," said Lehman who especially enjoys seeing the children of kids who have already gone through the AIJCA agenda entering the show ring. In 2004 his enthusiasm for the future of kids and cows within the Charolais breed nudged him into the chairman's seat of the AIJCA Foundation, a position he still holds, helping to maintain a strong foothold for Charolais youth. The Foundation, established more than 30 years ago, administers a scholarship program that benefits AIJCA members and oversees investment of endowment funds that make it possible for the organization to annually award $30,000 in scholarships.

Continuing to deepen his Charolais involvement, Lehman was elected as AICA Area 6 Director four years ago and has served as AICA Vice President the past two years leading up to his move into the top spot of the association. And, as with all of the other programs he's spearheaded, optimism prevails.

"Over the past 15 years the breed has improved to meet demands of the industry, offering growth and pounds on the ground to increase demand," said Lehman in pondering the past and considering the future of Charolais and the AICA. "Demand for Charolais bulls has been the best I've ever seen, and I think that will continue. We must position ourselves to provide seed stock that is needed to ensure demand."

As for the association, Lehman has nothing but good words for the organization which has embellished the livelihood of his family with in-depth learning experiences.

"The AICA office is running as best ever and finances are good. My goal is to make sure that continues and we remain on sound footing." ☐

Building a LEGACY.

The Charolais breed has a 43 year history of building the breed's future. Development of the AIJCF began in 1970 when breed leaders met and formulated the initial plans to provide leadership and scholarship opportunities for Charolais youth.

These efforts led to the AIJCF's first leadership and scholarship programs being introduced at the 1973 National Junior Leadership Conference.

Through the early 1980's, AIJCF programs continued to expand with the support of Charolais breeders nationwide.

1985 was a benchmark year for AIJCF when major contributions allowed for the program's first endowed scholarships. Today, seven endowed scholarship funds form the foundation for the program.

In 2012, AIJCF awarded 30 youth from 14 states, $31,000 in scholarships. An additional $3,000 is awarded to 4 exhibitors at the Junior National Show and Leadership Conference. Selection criteria includes academic and leadership excellence. The Raymond Hicks Fund provides support for the Junior National Leadership Conference.

Become part of the breed's legacy!

- Your tax-deductible minimum donation of $20,000 to the American-International Junior Charolais Foundation will allow you to name a scholarship which will become endowed after a period of one year.
- A minimum donation of $1,000 to the American-International Junior Charolais Foundation will allow the donor to name a scholarship to be awarded at the next Junior National.
- Donations of any size are encouraged at all times.

DOSAGE AND ADMINISTRATION

LONGRANGE™ (eprinomectin) should be given only by subcutaneous injection in front of the shoulder at the recommended dosage level of 1 mg eprinomectin per kg body weight (1 mL per 110 lb body weight).

WARNINGS AND PRECAUTIONS

Withdrawal Periods and Residue Warnings

Animals intended for human consumption must not be slaughtered within 48 days of the last treatment.
 This drug product is not approved for use in female dairy cattle 20 months of age or older, including dry dairy cows. Use in these cattle may cause drug residues in milk and/or in calves born to these cows. A withdrawal period has not been established for pre-ruminating calves. Do not use in calves to be processed for veal.

Animal Safety Warnings and Precautions

The product is likely to cause tissue damage at the site of injection, including possible granulomas and necrosis. These reactions have disappeared without treatment. Local tissue reaction may result in trim loss of edible tissue at slaughter.

Observe cattle for injection site reactions. If injection site reactions are suspected, consult your veterinarian. This product is not for intravenous or intramuscular use. Protect product from light. LONGRANGE™ (eprinomectin) has been developed specifically for use in cattle only. This product should not be used in other animal species.

When to Treat Cattle with Grubs

LONGRANGE effectively controls all stages of cattle grubs. However, proper timing of treatment is important. For the most effective results, cattle should be treated as soon as possible after the end of the heel fly (warble fly) season.

Environmental Hazards

Not for use in cattle managed in feedlots or under intensive rotational grazing because the environmental impact has not been evaluated for these scenarios.

Other Warnings: Underdosing and/or subtherapeutic concentrations of extended-release anthelmintic products may encourage the development of parasite resistance. It is recommended that parasite resistance be monitored following the use of any anthelmintic with the use of a fecal egg count reduction test program.

TARGET ANIMAL SAFETY

Clinical studies have demonstrated the wide margin of safety of LONGRANGE™ (eprinomectin). Overdosing at 3 to 5 times the recommended dose resulted in a statistically significant reduction in average weight gain when compared to the group tested at label dose. Treatment-related lesions observed in most cattle administered the product included swelling, hyperemia, or necrosis in the subcutaneous tissue of the skin. The administration of LONGRANGE at 3 times the recommended therapeutic dose had no adverse reproductive effects on beef cows at all stages of breeding or pregnancy or on their calves. Not for use in bulls, as reproductive safety testing has not been conducted in males intended for breeding or actively breeding. Not for use in calves less than 3 months of age because safety testing has not been conducted in calves less than 3 months of age.

STORAGE

Store at 77° F (25° C) with excursions between 59° and 86° F (15° and 30° C). Protect from light.

Rule Change for Donor Cow DNA Testing

Process for deceased donors described.

AICA's rule regarding DNA testing donor cows has changed. At the spring board meetings, the Rules and Ethics Committee approved a rule change that was then accepted by the AICA board. The rule addresses the occasional donor cow that has died before she could be DNA tested. Our rules require that all donor cows be DNA tested before their ET calves can be registered. The rule change gives breeders a path to register ET calves out of donor cows that have died before the DNA sample was taken. The rule reads as follows:

H. Eligibility of calves produced by Embryo Transplant

1. g. If there is a dead donor dam that has been registered and all effort has been taken through scientific technology to determine her DNA, which was unsuccessful, and if all other requirements of this rule have been met, then the breeder may, request a waiver of the donor dam DNA requirement, provide an affidavit, properly notarized, to the Association swearing that, to the breeder's personal knowledge, the donor cow has not been DNA tested and is dead, and pay a fee of $1,000 to the Association, whereupon the Rules and Ethics Committee will grant such a waiver at their next meeting.

The meaning of this rule is that now, if you have embryos in your tank or live calves from a donor cow that was never DNA tested and has died, you can register those calves. You will first have to fill out and have notarized an affidavit stating that the cow is dead and not available for DNA testing. The fee to have the donor cow approved is $1,000 per cow.

It's a good practice to DNA test donor cows before you flush them for the first time. It is not uncommon for breeders to decide to flush older cows, maybe one that has several progeny in production. Keep in mind, the DNA is sent to the lab and that cow's parentage is checked. If she doesn't match to her parents, alternate sires will be requested, the corrected pedigree will affect all her progeny and grand progeny. There is always the chance that the correct parent can't be identified and her record would be cancelled. Make sure you are choosing donors with pedigrees you're confident in.

JUNIOR

VIEWPOINT

Lauryn Brown, At Large Director

Get to Know Your Director!

Interviewed by Chelsea Woodcock, Secretary

Hello fellow Charolais lovers! I'm Lauryn Brown a sophomore at Kansas State University -GO CATS!!- and am majoring in Animal Science/Pre-vet option. I am originally from a small town in California called Strathmore. It's been an awesome place to grow up with the beach only two hours away and the mountains just thirty minutes away! Since I've joined the AIJCA Board, I've made some unforgettable friends attended some awesome shows and definitely looking forward to Texarkana this summer!

Q: How were you introduced to the Charolais breed?

A: When I first started showing at the age of eight, my grandpa gave me a little, yellow bottle calf to raise. Soon he became very hairy and very big and; so he was named "Harry." Harry let me ride him around, sit on his head and was just a big puppy dog. He taught me to love Charolais cattle. After that I really only had black and red cross steers, but then my sophomore year in high school I decided to get a Charolais cross steer again; which just provoked me to start my own herd. Jimmy Dismukes took me under his "command" and ever since then I have an intense passion for the industry.

Q: As someone who participated in the Mentor/Mentee program at Junior National, how would you encourage other juniors to become a mentor or mentee this year?

A: The mentor/mentee program was a great success! My partner this past year was Lucas Crutcher and what a team we were! We both had a blast and I could always guarantee that every day after lunch Lucas would be at my stalls to fill out our booklet. This program brought us closer together and really allowed both of us to meet a lot more new people. I highly suggest this program if you want to have fun and throw something new into your Junior National week!!

Q: What are some of your traits that aid you at being a Junior Board Director?

A: Hmm. . . I would have to say my outgoing nature and determination. You need a high energy spirit to get involved with other kids and really motivate them to find the silver lining of Charolais cattle. My determination has unquestionably helped me take on projects from head on and make sure I represent our breed well.

Q: Which contest have you enjoyed participating in most at Junior Nationals?

A: BBBYYYY far the cooking contest!! John and Josie Woodcock, Clara Delong and I had a blast last year! For most of us it was our first time, so we clearly had no idea what we were doing. But I made everyone dress up as hula girls, even John, and the entire time we were laughing and having a great time! I think people watching had a kick out of it too!

Q: Outside of showing cattle, what hobbies do you have?

A: In high school, I loved playing soccer and racing sprint cars. Now that I'm in college, I'm mostly involved with my sorority, Sigma Alpha. It's a great group of girls, most of us have backgrounds in agriculture, and together we form unforgettable sisterhood bonds. I also try to get out of Manhattan and see what Kansas has to offer me. I try to visit ranches and just get thoroughly involved with the cattle industry.

Q: Who has been an inspiration in your life?

A: You know my parents have really inspired me throughout my entire life. They are both very strong and driven people. They have taught me to want to do better for myself. Today most kids have a hard time just finding motivation to do better and my parents have shown me that hard work and determination will pay off in the end. Thanks mom and dad.

Q: What are you looking forward to most at Junior Nationals this year in Texarkana?

A: The thing I'm looking forward to most is showing my two new bulls. I haven't got to spend a lot of time with them so far because of college, but the time I have gotten with them was great! They are a ton of fun and both have very different personalities hopefully I can handle the two "turds"!

Managed Grazing Can ‘Shut the Gate’ on Added Expense

by Linda Eck

Stretching an extra month out of a summer grazing program can prove to be a great opportunity for increased profits. While growing seasons vary by region, savvy cattle producers who maximize the potential of their spring, summer and fall growing seasons can decrease demand on winter stockpiles and hay supplies while maximizing weight gain and productivity.

A grazing program doesn't have to be overly intense to be effective, but its success does rely heavily on a producer's commitment to make the most of resources at hand. With production costs constantly on the rise, even the simplest of management practices can influence overall return on investment.

Avoiding the temptation to leave all the gates open is the first step to creating an effective grazing program. And, while grazing management can be time consuming, it's important to remember that time spent rotating pastures in the summer may possibly reduce the amount of winter feeding time and the added expense of supplemental feeds. Likewise, it can also extend grazing time during dry weather.

The focus on grazing as opposed to the cost of haying is also drawing a lot of attention among cattle producers as they search for summer grazing solutions. Just as turnips, wheat and rye have become viable for fall and winter, many cattlemen are turning to alfalfa for summer grazing. Making the most of this hardy legume by not only utilizing it for hay, but as a summer grazing resource, cattle producers are finding that alfalfa, although somewhat labor intensive, incorporates well into intensive grazing systems for added productivity. Widely adapted, alfalfa can be managed to complement pasture resources, and some varieties are especially tolerant to grazing. When properly managed, the grazing season for alfalfa can be longer than the haying season. And, while bloat can always be a concern when grazing any legume, producers who have reaped the benefits of successful alfalfa grazing programs suggest the following:

- Allow cows to fill up on hay or dry grass before turning them onto a fresh field.
- Provide cows with access to dry, palatable hay to help prevent bloat.
- Utilize a late morning/afternoon grazing program. Cattle grazing alfalfa that is wet with dew or during cool, rainy weather tend to experience a higher incidence of bloat. A killing frost also increases the risk of bloat.
- When seeding alfalfa for grazing, including grasses with a similar re-growth rate will likely increase performance while decreasing the risk of bloat.

The aspects of a grazing program are as complex and unique as each individual operation, but it's important to remember that greater economic return is routinely achieved by practicing good management protocols. Using and understanding soil tests, plant tolerance and nutritive values are imperative to healthy grazing. Taking advantage of continuing education and agricultural programs specifically designed to increase profits through grazing programs can prove to be very helpful whether fine tuning an existing program or initiating a new system.

NADA 139-237, Approved by FDA

Factrel® GONADORELIN HYDROCHLORIDE

For Injection

For the treatment of cystic ovaries in cattle.

CAUTION

Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian.

DESCRIPTION

FACTREL (gonadorelin hydrochloride) is a sterile solution containing 50 micrograms of synthetic gonadorelin (as hydrochloride) per mL in aqueous formulation containing 0.6% sodium chloride and 2% benzyl alcohol (as a preservative). Gonadorelin is the gonadotropin releasing hormone (GnRH) which is produced by the hypothalamus and causes the release of the gonadotropin luteinizing hormone (LH) and follicle-stimulating hormone (FSH) from the anterior pituitary. FACTREL (gonadorelin hydrochloride) has the identical amino acid sequence as endogenous gonadorelin; 5-oxo Pro-His-Trp-Ser-Tyr-Gly-Leu-Arg-Pro-Gly-NH<sub>2</sub> with identical physiological activities. The molecular weight of gonadorelin is 1182 with a molecular formula of C<sub>255</sub>H<sub>473</sub>N<sub>17</sub>O<sub>13</sub>. The corresponding values for gonadorelin hydrochloride are 1219 (1 HCl) expressed as C<sub>255</sub>H<sub>475</sub>N<sub>17</sub>O<sub>13</sub>HCl, or 1255 (2 HCl) expressed as C<sub>255</sub>H<sub>477</sub>N<sub>17</sub>O<sub>13</sub>2HCl.

MECHANISM OF ACTION

Follicular cysts are enlarged non-ovulatory follicles resulting from a malfunction of the neuroendocrine mechanism controlling follicular maturation and ovulation. Exogenous administration of agents possessing luteinizing hormone (LH) activity, such as pituitary extracts or human chorionic gonadotropin, often causes ovulation or regression of follicular cysts. FACTREL induces release of endogenous luteinizing hormone (LH) to produce this same effect. No significant differences have been demonstrated in days from treatment to conception, frequency of cows conceiving at first or subsequent heats, or conception rates among treated or non-treated control animals.

INDICATIONS

FACTREL (gonadorelin hydrochloride) is indicated for the treatment of ovarian follicular cysts in cattle. The treatment effect of FACTREL when used in cattle with ovarian follicular cysts is a reduction in the number of days to first estrus.

DOSAGE

The recommended dosage of FACTREL is 100 mcg/cow intramuscularly.

RESIDUE WARNING

Because FACTREL is identical to endogenous GnRH such that both are rapidly metabolized without detectable levels in milk or tissue, no withdrawal period is required.

STORAGE CONDITIONS

Store at refrigerator temperature 2° to 8°C (36° to 46°F).

SAFETY AND TOXICITY

In cows the intramuscular administration of up to 25 times recommended dosage (2,500 mcg/day) of FACTREL for 3 days did not affect any physiological or clinical parameter. Likewise, single intramuscular doses of 5 times recommended dosage (500 mcg) did not interfere with pregnancy. No evidence of irritation at injection site was found in any animal.

HOW SUPPLIED

FACTREL (gonadorelin hydrochloride) solution 50 mcg/mL is available in 20 mL multidose vials (box of one). NDC 0856-4311-02 – 20 mL – box of 1

LUTALYSE® brand of dinoprost tromethamine sterile solution

Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian.

For intramuscular use for estrous synchronization, treatment of unobserved (silent) estrus and pyometra (chronic endometritis) in cattle; for abortion of foetal and other non-lactating cattle; for parturition induction in swine; and for controlling the timing of estrus in estrous cycling mares and clinically anestrus mares that have a corpus luteum.

INDICATIONS AND INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE

Cattle: LUTALYSE Sterile Solution is indicated as a luteolytic agent.

LUTALYSE is effective only in those cattle having a corpus luteum, i.e., those which ovulated at least five days prior to treatment. Future reproductive performance of animals that are not cycling will be unaffected by injection of LUTALYSE.

1. For Intramuscular Use for Estrous Synchronization in Beef Cattle and Non-Lactating Dairy Heifers: LUTALYSE is used to control the timing of estrus and ovulation in estrous cycling cattle that have a corpus luteum.

Inject a dose of 5 mL LUTALYSE (25 mg PGF<sub>2α</sub>) intramuscularly either once or twice at 8 to 12 day intervals.

With the single injection, cattle should be bred at the usual time relative to estrus.

With the two injections, cattle can be bred after the second injection either at the usual time relative to detected estrus or at about 80 hours after the second injection of LUTALYSE.

Estrus is expected to occur 1 to 5 days after injection if a corpus luteum was present.

Cattle that do not become pregnant to breeding at estrus on days 1 to 5 after injection will be expected to return to estrus in about 18 to 24 days.

2. For Intramuscular Use for Unobserved (Silent) Estrus in Lactating Dairy Cows with a Corpus Luteum: Inject a dose of 5 mL LUTALYSE (25 mg PGF<sub>2α</sub>) intramuscularly.

Breed cows as they are detected in estrus. If estrus has not been observed by 80 hours after injection, breed at 80 hours. If the cow returns to estrus breed at the usual time relative to estrus.

Management Considerations: Many factors contribute to success and failure of reproduction management, and these factors are important also when time of breeding is to be regulated with LUTALYSE Sterile Solution. Some of these factors are:

- Cattle must be ready to breed – they must have a corpus luteum and be healthy;
- Nutritional status must be adequate as this has a direct effect on conception and the initiation of estrus in heifers or return of estrous cycles in cows following calving;
- Physical facilities must be adequate to allow cattle handling without being detrimental to the animal;
- Estrus must be detected accurately if timed AI is not employed;
- Semen of high fertility must be used;
- Semen must be inseminated properly.

A successful breeding program can employ LUTALYSE effectively, but a poorly managed breeding program will continue to be poor when LUTALYSE is employed unless other management deficiencies are remedied first.

Cattle expressing estrus following LUTALYSE are receptive to breeding by a bull. Using bulls to breed large numbers of cattle in heat following LUTALYSE will require proper management of bulls and cattle.

3. For Intramuscular Use for Treatment of Pyometra (chronic endometritis) in Cattle: Inject a dose of 5 mL LUTALYSE (25 mg PGF<sub>2α</sub>) intramuscularly. In studies conducted with LUTALYSE, pyometra was defined as presence of a corpus luteum in the ovary and uterine horns containing fluid but not a conceptus based on palpation per rectum.

Return to normal was defined as evacuation of fluid and return of the uterine horn size to 40 mm or less based on palpation per rectum at 14 and 28 days. Most cattle that recovered in response to LUTALYSE recovered within 14 days after injection. After 14 days, recovery rate of treated cattle was no different than that of nontreated cattle.

4. For Intramuscular Use for Abortion of Foetal and Other Non-Lactating Cattle: LUTALYSE is indicated for its abortifacient effect in foetal and other non-lactating cattle during the first 100 days of gestation. Inject a dose of 25 mg intramuscularly. Cattle that abort will abort within 35 days of injection.

Commercial cattle were palpated per rectum for pregnancy in six feedlots. The percent of pregnant cattle in each feedlot less than 100 days of gestation ranged between 26 and 84; 80% or more of the pregnant cattle were less than 150 days of gestation. The abortion rates following injection of LUTALYSE increased with increasing doses up to about 25 mg. As examples, the abortion rates, over 7 feedlots on the dose titration study, were 22%, 50%, 71%, 90% and 78% for cattle up to 100 days of gestation when injected IM with LUTALYSE doses of 0.1 (5 mg), 2 (10 mg), 4 (20 mg) and 8 (40 mg) mL, respectively. The statistical predicted relative abortion rate based on the dose titration data, was about 93% for the 5 mL (25 mg) LUTALYSE dose for cattle injected up to 100 days of gestation.

Swine: For intramuscular use for parturition induction in swine. LUTALYSE Sterile Solution is indicated for parturition induction in swine when injected within 3 days of normal predicted farrowing.

The response to treatment varies by individual animals with a mean interval from administration of 2 mL LUTALYSE (10 mg dinoprost) to parturition of approximately 30 hours. This can be employed to control the time of farrowing in sows and gilts in late gestation.

Management Considerations: Several factors must be considered for the successful use of LUTALYSE Sterile Solution for parturition induction in swine. The product must be administered at a relatively specific time (treatment earlier than 3 days prior to normal predicted farrowing may result in increased piglet mortality). It is important that adequate records be maintained on (1) the average length of gestation period for the animals on a specific farm, and (2) the breeding and projected farrowing dates for each sow. This information is essential to determine the appropriate time for administration of LUTALYSE.

Mares: LUTALYSE Sterile Solution is indicated for its luteolytic effect in mares. This luteolytic effect can be utilized to control the timing of estrus in estrous cycling and clinically anestrus mares that have a corpus luteum in the following circumstances:

- Controlling Time of Estrus of Estrous Cycling Mares: Mares treated with LUTALYSE during estrus (4 or more days after ovulation) will return to estrus within 2 to 4 days in most cases and ovulate 8 to 12 days after treatment. This procedure may be utilized as an aid to scheduling the use of stallions.
- Difficult-to-Breed Mares: In extended diestrus there is failure to exhibit regular estrous cycles, which is different from true anestrus. Many mares described as anestrus during the breeding season have serum progesterone levels consistent with the presence of a functional corpus luteum.

A proportion of "barren", maiden, and lactating mares do not exhibit regular estrous cycles and may be in extended diestrus. Following abortion, early fetal death and re-ovulation, or as a result of "pseudopregnancy", there may be serum progesterone levels consistent with a functional corpus luteum.

Treatment of such mares with LUTALYSE usually results in regression of the corpus luteum followed by estrus and/or ovulation. In one study with standardized and thoroughbred mares in clinical anestrus for an average of 58 days and treated during the breeding season, behavioral estrus was detected in 81 percent at an average time of 3.7 days after injection with 5 mg LUTALYSE; ovulation occurred an average of 7.0 days after treatment. Of those mares bred, 59% were pregnant following an average of 1.4 services during that estrus.

Treatment of "anestrus" mares, which abort subsequent to 36 days of pregnancy, may not result in return to estrus due to presence of functional endometrial cups.

USER SAFETY (HUMAN WARNINGS)

Not for human use. Women of childbearing age, asthmatics, and persons with bronchial and other respiratory problems should exercise extreme caution when handling this product. The product must be administered by or under the supervision of a licensed veterinarian. Dinoprost tromethamine is readily absorbed through the skin and can cause abortion. Accidental spillage on the skin should be washed off immediately with soap and water.

RESIDUE INFORMATION

No milk discard or pre-slaughter drug withdrawal period is required for labeled uses in cattle. No pre-slaughter drug withdrawal period is required for labeled uses in swine. Use of this product in excess of the approved dose may result in drug residues. Not for horses intended for human consumption.

ANIMAL SAFETY (WARNINGS)

Severe localized clostridial infections associated with injection of LUTALYSE have been reported. In rare instances, such infections have resulted in death. Aggressive antibiotic therapy should be employed at the first sign of infection at the injection site whether localized or diffuse.

PRECAUTIONS

Do not administer intravenously (IV) as this route may potentiate adverse reactions.

No viol stopper should be entered more than 20 times. For this reason, the 100 mL bottle should only be used for cattle. The 30 mL bottle may be used for cattle, swine, or mares.

As with all parenteral products, careful aseptic techniques should be used to decrease the possibility of post-injection bacterial infections. The viol stopper should be cleaned and disinfected prior to needle entry. Only sterile needles should be used and the same needle should not be used more than once.

Nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs may inhibit prostaglandin synthesis; therefore this class of drugs should not be administered concurrently.

Cattle: Do not administer to pregnant cattle, unless abortion is desired. Cattle administered a prostaglandin would be expected to have a reduced response to LUTALYSE Sterile Solution.

Swine: Do not administer to sows and/or gilts prior to 3 days of normal predicted farrowing as an increased number of stillbirths and postnatal mortality may result.

Mares: LUTALYSE Sterile Solution is ineffective when administered prior to day-9 after ovulation. Pregnancy status should be determined prior to treatment since LUTALYSE has been reported to induce abortion and parturition when sufficient doses were administered. Mares should not be treated if they suffer from either acute or subacute disorders of the vascular system, gastrointestinal tract, respiratory system, or reproductive tract.

ADVERSE REACTIONS

Cattle: Limited salivation has been reported in some instances.

Swine: The most frequently observed side effects were erythema and pruritus, slight incoordination, resting behavior, itching, urination, defecation, abdominal muscle spasms, tail movements, hyperpnea or dyspnea, increased vocalization, salivation, and at the 100 mg (100 dose) only, possible vomiting. These side effects are transitory, lasting from 10 minutes to 3 hours, and were not detrimental to the health of the animal.

Mares: The most frequently observed side effects are sweating and decreased rectal temperature. However, these have been transient in all cases observed and have not been detrimental to the animal. Other reactions seen have been increase in heart rate, increase in respiration rate, some abdominal discomfort, locomotor incoordination, and lying down. These effects are usually seen within 15 minutes of injection and disappear within one hour. Mares usually continue to rest during the period of expression of side effects. One anaphylactic reaction of several hundred mares treated with LUTALYSE Sterile Solution was reported but was not confirmed.

GETTING COWS BRED CAN BE JUST AS EASY.

Breed cattle on your schedule, instead of theirs. With Eazi-Breed™ CIDR® Cattle Insert and LUTALYSE® (dinoprost tromethamine) Sterile Solution, it's easy to tighten heat cycle timing. So you can breed groups of cattle in a narrow window. And FACTREL® (gonadorelin hydrochloride) Sterile Solution helps treat ovarian cysts to return cattle to estrus faster. All of which helps shorten the calving season so you get more nights of uninterrupted sleep.
