QUALITY BULLS YOU CAN COUNT ON... IN QUANTITY!

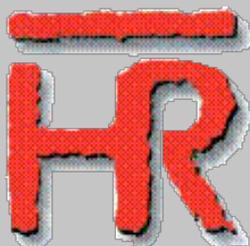

- In the cattle business, the emphasis should be on business and with today's high corn prices it is important that the money we make is with cattle that perform on grass. We are a forage based operation. Our calves are not creep fed and are raised on grass.
- Under our family's 4 brands we buy over 135,000 head of stocker cattle in the Southeast annually. We buy your calves at your local market. We know what your buyers want because we are one of them.

- All of our bulls are guaranteed TB, Trichinosis, and Bangs free, BVD/PI tested and semen tested.
- Our cattle are well adapted to your area because they were raised less than 100 miles from the Gulf of Mexico on grass. They will not fall apart.
- 41 of the Charolais breed's Top 50 bulls for Total Maternal are Rogers Bar HR bred.
- Rogers Bar HR bulls have won more BIF guideline central tests than any herd in the nation! We hold the rate of gain record for both MS and FL.

Buy them out of our pasture, at your pace, with no sale pressure.
Come take a look!

SOUTH DAKOTA

Charolais Classic

On behalf of the South Dakota Charolais Breeders Association, welcome to the 6th Annual South Dakota Charolais Classic. As you page through this catalog, you will notice that what this sale lacks in numbers, it makes up for in quality. From show heifer prospects to females that will become the foundation of your herd, to percentage heifers and show steer prospects, this sale has it all.

Consigning to this year's sale are Eggleston's Charolais, Scheel Livestock, Steffensen Charolais, Stewart Charolais, Wells Charolais and Wienk Charolais. Year in and year out, you see these breeders listed in the top production sales across the United States. Beyond that, you often hear of the banners they win at the local, state and national level. Furthermore, they represent generations of breeding quality Charolais genetics that are in demand from fellow Charolais breeders and commercial bull buyers alike.

Please plan to be in Mitchell, SD on November 16th. The cattle will be available for viewing at Mitchell Livestock on Friday evening. If you are unable to attend the sale, it will be broadcast on DV Auction or contact Colt Keffer 765-376-8784, Jim Scheel 605-545-1521, myself 605-695-0113 or one of our consignors.

Thank you for your interest,
Donnie Leddy

VIEWPOINT

J. Neil Orth, Executive Vice President

Rebuilding The Factory

The beef industry is poised for expansion.

For anyone thinking ranching is a profession for the inexperienced, uncompassionate, ambivalent, unresourceful or weak of heart, think again. Think again, then read any account of the tragic early blizzard, Atlas, that struck parts of western South Dakota and Wyoming and try to find words to describe the emotional toll after realizing generations of progress had been wiped out in a matter of hours while you watched helplessly out the window. The stories are gut wrenching.

The livestock death toll continues to rise. The economic impact to individual livestock operations is catastrophic. The short and long term predictive effects this monster storm will have on beef production are being analyzed and will need to be revised until the final death count is determined.

The beef industry, as a whole, has contracted to seriously low numbers in the past few years due to recession and catastrophic drought in prime cow country. Now, we may have lost from 50,000-75,000 mother cows

Realizing the Chipotle Grill® folks have a somewhat skewed view of our “factories”, here’s another, more realistic consideration for the state of our nation’s cow herd—the real factory. Whether we like the comparison or not, every segment of the beef industry represents a part of a manufacturing producers and a genuine understanding of what it takes to pick up and rebuild, the affected areas have experienced an outpouring of generosity and support. Our proverbial “sleeves are rolled up” and we’re asking what we can do to help.

If there is a bright spot on the horizon after a the recent tragic weather event, the beef industry is poised for expansion. The economic indicators, while not without risk, are about as positive as we’ve seen for nearly a generation.

Corn futures are consistently down and feeder calf prices are higher. U.S. per capita beef consumption is down, but demand for higher quality beef is confirmed by a $15.00 Choice-Select spread. Our export markets continue to be strong. Possibly the best news of all is the fact that drought stricken pastures in areas hit hardest have been moderated with summer and early fall moisture.

Another paradigm shift, as the beef industry stands on the brink of expansion, is genomic information. The industry is focusing on heifer retention and quantifying the value of those females for traits of economic importance. Continued field studies and further genomic research focused on feed efficiency will set the quality bar even higher. Genomic enhanced system. From raw product to processing to consumer ready and retail sales, regardless of a beef producer’s independence, once sold, the product moves up the food chain. It all starts with the cow (the factory) and the birth of a live calf—the raw product.

Traditional manufacturing, during tough times, can simply consolidate or downsize or shut down a plant. Traditional manufacturing can close a plant and wait for a more favorable marketing environment, increased demand or contract settlements. Within a matter of weeks or months, the plant can reopen and finished product can be moving through the production line onto the plane, train or truck for delivery around the world.

Beef cattle production, when measured as a manufacturing model, is extraordinary and unique. From the birth of a replacement heifer to the birth of her calf to market is approximately three years. Not many Wall Street types would keep their jobs suggesting an investor take a risk with no chance of a return for three years and, by the way, gigantic risks everyday, from birth to harvest.

So who does this year after year, generation after generation? Those families committed to doing it. Because of the compassion by fellow EPDs will improve the accuracy of young sire prospects and provide a level of risk management for commercial cow-calf producers, particularly those choosing to retain ownership.

For AICA members contemplating the importance of the AICA 50K Genotype Project, this project may determine the future of Charolais influence in the nation’s cow herd in what will likely be a historic rebuilding period. Genomic enhanced EPDs will be the norm in sire selection as well as heifer replacement and retention as the beef industry moves into expansion. Contact the AICA office or go to www.charolaisusa.com for more information.

The road back for our beef producing families in South Dakota and Wyoming will be painful, costly and difficult. We have received calls from AICA members wanting to assist in any way. Log on to any of the websites below for more information.

45th National Show and Events at the National Western Stock Show

The 45th National Charolais Show will be held at the National Western Saturday, January 18 through Monday, January 20. See the calendar for event details. Plan to visit the AICA Hospitality Tent in the Yards! The hotel headquarters is the Renaissance Denver Hotel, 3801 Quebec Street, Denver, Colorado 80207. Call (800) 468-3571 for reservations. Ask for the Charolais rate $112 per night plus taxes (Single & Double Rate). Parking is an additional $5/night. Reservation cutoff deadline 12/23/13.

Advertising Deadline

The deadline to place advertising in the January 2014 Charolais Journal is November 25. Contact your area field representative about these and other advertising opportunities.

Have you ordered your Charolais Christmas Cards?

Order personalized Charolais Christmas cards today! Visit charolaisusa.com for more information on how to place your order or contact Judy at (816) 464-2474 ext. 102.

Spring 2014 Sire Summary

The deadline for submitting performance data to be included in the Spring 2014 Sire Summary is November 15th. Please make sure you've entered your calf data, weights and weigh dates online or submitted it on forms to AICA no later than the 15th of November.

AICA Billing Statements

AICA billing statements are sent at the beginning of each month. To insure prompt return of your papers, please pay your balance each month. Attn: WHR members, the 2nd half of the enrollment fee is now due.

Record your 2013 born calves

Record your 2013 born calves using AICA's online system. Add the data as the calves are born; continue to update the records as you add weaning and yearling data. Register the calves at any time by just adding the name.

American-International Charolais Association

The AICA is the official registry for Charolais and Charbray cattle in the United States. Charolais cattle were first brought to the U.S. in 1936. In 1957, the American Charolais Breeders Association and the International Charolais Breeders Association merged forming the present AICA. Membership in the AICA is obtainable when the applicant has ownership in at least one animal, and has paid the initial membership fee of $125. AICA annual dues are $100.

AI Sires

AI Sires used "out of herd" must be DNA tested before calves can be registered. Check the bull's record to make sure the DNA work has been done before submitting registration papers. AICA rules require signatures on bulls you do not own. Signatures can be submitted online, fax, mail or e-mail.

CharolaisUSA.com Advertising and Marketing Opportunities

The AICA website (www.charolaisusa.com) offers a variety of online advertising opportunities. Banner ads can be linked directly to your website or sale catalog. The ads are $250 per month or $200 for two weeks for advertisers in the Charolais Journal or Charolais Edge. The general banner ad rate is $400 per month. Normally, the ads will be put on the website within 2 days after submission.

Want to reach your customers directly? Email blasts are now offered to drop your advertisement straight into the inbox of thousands! Email blasts work great for upcoming sales or any ad that runs in the Charolais Journal. Email blasts can be linked directly to your website or sale catalog. Email blasts are $250 each for advertisers in the Charolais Journal or Charolais Edge. The general email blast rate is $400 each.

CharolaisUSA.com advertising packages are available for those advertising in the Charolais Journal or Charolais Edge. Promote your sale with a 1 month banner ad and 1 email blast for $400.

The Charolais Journal is now offering more services to sale booklet advertisers. Not only is the Charolais Journal an excellent spot to promote your sale, but sale booklets are now online! Easily accessible on the AICA website, check out the sales coming near you.

AICA using GeneSeek

The AICA is now using GeneSeek for parentage testing, contact Marilou Wegner to request a kit. The kit is specific to the animal being tested. AICA rules require AI sire and donor cows be tested if they have not been.

AICA Mail

AICA no longer gets mail at the post office box. Please make sure all correspondence for AICA or the Charolais Journal is addressed to: 11700 NW Plaza Circle, Kansas City, MO 64153. ☐

PHYSICIAN CREDITS 'WORKING TOGETHER' FOR SUCCESSFUL EVOLUTION OF AICA

By Linda Eck

Always laying aside personal interests to do what is best for the breed and promising not to out “cowboy the cowboys,” an enthusiastic family doctor has played a significant role in the successful evolution of today’s American-International Charolais Association.

Now, after having just completed a second term as Area 13 Director, just one of the many positions he has held within the association, Dr. Richard Clark is ironically taking on a new appointment to the Advertising and Marketing Committee.

“The value of advertising is my story,” jokes the well-accomplished physician who found his niche in the world of agriculture as a Charolais breeder in Tazewell, Tenn. As a young boy visiting on his aunt and uncle’s farm, Richard Clark was enticed into the Charolais business by a small ad he witnessed time and again in the Progressive Farmer magazine.

A former city boy raised in the suburbs of Nashville, Clark, who loved the farm then and continues to love the farm now, confesses, “My imagination was captured by a one-inch ad.”

As a family practitioner just beginning his medical career, Clark began his Volunteer Charolais herd in 1971, shortly after moving to Tazewell. Now, more than four decades later, the dreams of a young boy have materialized into a lifetime of service and dedication to the breed that first caught his eye in a small advertisement. Having served on nearly every committee within the AICA, its board of directors and two terms as president of the association, Dr. Clark represents the strength of the Charolais breed.

Describing Volunteer Charolais as a “no frills” herd of 30 head, Clark says the Charolais breed has opened doors that have led him on a great journey of meeting “fantastic people” and four decades of service that he describes as “a very

Serving on the AICA board for many years, Clark was elected president of the association and served in that capacity for two terms beginning in 2001. It was that “turn of the century” leadership that brought the association through difficult times, relying heavily on hard decisions and people dedicated to working together.

Referring to the AICA as “a people business” united by Charolais cattle, Clark premises his service to the association with “together we can do things.” And, it was to that theme that he guided the association through thorny times, banding together with others equally as enthusiastic to make the changes necessary to turn the AICA into a business...a people business that was logical.

“We established a business plan, registration pathways, we righted our financial ship and started making headway,” said Clark. “I’m sure there are lots of people to thank and lots of issues that I don’t even know about that got solved.”

“I’m far too smart to think that I have done anything myself,” says Clark. “We were able to do things because we came together and put our shoulders to the wheel and decided we could make changes. We had to make it (AICA) into a business. I had lots of help in everything I’ve ever done,

Accuracy of Genetic Evaluations

Improving Accuracy

Expected Progeny Differences are estimates of an animal's breeding value for a particular trait of interest. As sources of information are included in the estimate, and the more accurate those sources of information are, the more accurate the estimates of genetic merit will be. Hence the accuracy of an EPD is reliant on those sources of information.

The best sources of information we have are the phenotypes of the animals and their progeny through reported birth weights, weaning and yearling weights, scrotal measurements and carcass (or ultrasound for registered yearlings) records.

The accuracy for these sources of information is impacted by the accuracy of the measurements in addition to the accuracy and structure of the contemporary groups each animal is raised in. Contemporary groups must have at least two animals represented for which to make a comparison and larger contemporary groups are more informative as long as they represent animals that were raised together and each given an equal opportunity to perform. Calves reared in different pastures or different farms should be separated into separate contemporary groups. It's also important to have two or more sires represented in the contemporary groups; otherwise no comparison between sires can be established. For smaller herds that may only have one sire the use of A.I. should be used to establish those sire comparisons. A.I. sires also have the advantage of building stronger genetic ties between herds.

The incorporation of genomic tools into genetic evaluations can enhance our ability to improve the accuracy for younger animals. However, it is important to recognize that the accuracy of the genomic tools is also driven by the accuracy of the performance data submitted to the association to be used in the calculation of EPD.

The most accurate genetic evaluations (including genomic enhanced evaluations) are supported by a strong performance data base.

JUNIOR VIEWPOINT

Megan Johnson, At Large Director

Get to Know Your Director!

Interviewed by Chelsea Woodcock, Secretary

Hey Everyone!! My name is Megan Johnson and I am currently attending Redlands Community College in El Reno, Oklahoma, where I am majoring in Ag Communications and Animal Science. This is my second year as part of the AIJCA Board, where I am excited to work with not only the other board members, but the junior members as well. Being a part of the livestock industry and showing cattle has been a huge part of my life. I am from the small town of Beaver, Oklahoma; which is located in the panhandle of Oklahoma known as "No Man's Land."

Q: How have you benefited as a junior in the Charolais breed?

A: Being a junior in the Charolais breed has impacted my life in many ways. I think being a part of this breed I have become a well rounded individual. I consider the people and friends I make in the Charolais breed my family.

Q: If you were approached by a junior for advice on how to prepare cattle for a show, what advice would you give them?

A: I would give a junior the best advice that I was ever given. It all starts at home; from there all the hard work you put into your animals or any project for that matter will have a greater result in the end.

Q: The 2014 Junior National is to be held in Hutchinson, KS, what are you looking forward to most about this Junior National?

A: Knowing that Junior Nationals is going to be held in Hutchinson again next year makes me so excited. Mostly because it takes me back several years to my first Junior National held there. All of the memories and friends I made that first year and all that are still yet to come next year is a great thing to look forward to. I cannot wait to go back to where it all started 7 years ago.

Q: What are some of the obstacles that you have had to overcome as a Junior Board Director?

A: I think one of the biggest obstacles I have had to face while being a director is finding ways to manage my time between college, showing, work and being on the board. I believe that even though this might be an obstacle it is a good lesson for a person to learn making them more responsible in life.

Q: November symbolizes the season of thankfulness, what are you thankful for during this season?

A: I feel so fortunate to be a part of this breed that has taken care of me for so many years. I just want to say how thankful I am for my friends, the people who have helped me along the way, the memories I have made, and of course my parents. I would not be where I am or the person I am today without them. I love you mom and dad!!

Q: After you are finished with your degree in Ag Communications, what direction are you hoping to take it?

A: After I am finished with my degree in Ag Communications I hope to pursue a career working on livestock publications in the cattle industry. ■

Controlling Liver Flukes in Cattle

By Heather Smith Thomas

Internal parasites rob cattle of important nutrients and also cause damage to the host animal. The most widespread internal parasites, affecting cattle everywhere, are worms (nematodes) that live in the stomach or the intestine. But in many regions, liver flukes are also a concern, and can be quite damaging as well. If you live in an area where there are snails (the intermediate host), liver flukes should be included in your parasite control program,

These parasites' life cycle depends on a small snail for an intermediate host. "Cow manure containing fluke eggs must land in water, for transmission of liver flukes," says Dr. Floron (Buddy) Faries (Texas AgriLife Extension Services). If the manure lands on dry ground, the eggs die.

"After they hatch, immature flukes are like tadpoles and must have water. But if the cow is wading in water and dropping manure, the eggs hatch in about a month, if the water is above about 55 degrees. Otherwise the eggs stay dormant and may not hatch."

If the water is warm enough, the eggs hatch and the immature flukes start swimming, looking for a snail. "They penetrate the foot of the snail. Weather has to be warm enough for the snails to be out. The immature flukes get into the body of the snail and start multiplying. They stay in the snail for about 2 months and then come out. They are swimmers again, at that point, and have to find some plants growing in the water, to attach to those—and be eaten by a cow," says Faries.

There may be some low areas, even in a dry pasture, where there's enough water for snails. "Wherever there's standing water, there will be snails when weather warms up in the spring. The eggs will be passed in manure when the cows wade in the water, hatch in about a month and find a snail to develop in for 2 months. If they come out of the snail in July, however, the water may not be there. If there's no water, this will break the life cycle," he explains.

"If we have 3 months of water—one for the eggs to hatch, and 2 months to develop in the snail—the flukes can come out and encyst on the grass. After that, the water could dry up but the flukes will still be there, waiting on the grass plants. The cows could eat that grass, or it might be cut for hay, and those flukes can get into the cattle. Then, it takes two months for the flukes to migrate in the cow—getting into the liver and migrating through the liver—and become mature enough to be susceptible to the deworming drug. So the deworming must be 5 months after the eggs hatch from the manure and end up in the cow," says Faries.

If this life cycle is occurring from April through August, the time to treat for cattle liver flukes is in September. "If it was too cold in April or we didn't have any rain, it will be a little later. If we had rain in May, we'd treat for flukes in October." In a northern climate, this cycle will be even later. So timing the treatment will depend upon temperature and moisture in your area.

In some climates there may be another cycle in the fall, if there is enough water and warmth. "Usually in Texas we don't have moisture for 3 months in the fall, so it's more likely to occur in the spring. If we are treating for liver flukes it's usually most beneficial to do it in the fall. If you are trying to treat cattle for both worms and flukes, it can be difficult to find the proper time for both, since it's usually best to treat for stomach worms in the early summer after spring rains. In south Texas you might want to deworm as early as April, but in central or north Texas it's more likely to be May and June. If you try to also treat for liver flukes at that time, it won't be the proper time in their life cycle. People often use a dewormer that kills both, and feel like they've accomplished their goal, but they didn't actually kill the flukes."

If a certain region has wet weather year round, and the temperature is mild during most months of the year, without a cold winter, you are more likely to have worms or flukes at any time of year. "But if you have drought or just seasonal rains, or cold winters, there will only be certain times that you should be treating the cattle for worms or flukes," he says.

the only thing I will take credit for is that I'm satisfied the things I have done were not for my own benefit – it was truly for the association and the breed of cattle.”

Stressing that it is important for those serving any type of organization to put their own interests aside to do what is best for the group; Clark is no stranger to public service. Having served as Chief of Staff at the hospital in Tazewell different times throughout his 42-year career, he is quick to note the “80/20 Rule” which recognizes that 80 percent of the work is usually done by 20 percent of the people in any organization.

“I’ve been through three (AICA) CEOs now and each one has had their place and did a good job, but Neil Orth has been excellent for us and continues today,” said Clark. “He brought a fresh approach to what we were doing and has been a welcome shot in the arm.”

Acknowledging his “family” in Tazewell for doing the work at Volunteer Charolais and allowing him to become so involved with the association, “Doc” credits Randall Meyers, Jr. for the many strides the herd has made. Meyers, who technically is his herdsman, but in all reality is more like family, has made it possible for Clark to be wholly involved in association programs. Meyers, along with his wife, Lisa and their son, Winston, whom he says is “like my grandson”; and now two four-year-old twin “granddaughters” Zoey and Chloe, are a vital part of Volunteer Charolais.

Although Clark retired in July, he realizes the understanding his patients also had toward his involvement with the Charolais breed.

“They know it’s the ‘other thing’ I do,” said the practitioner, noting the longest he had ever been away from his practice was for Charolais trips. “I was fortunate to have other local physicians to take my calls.”

As for his love of the farm, Clark is quick to praise its value.

“Cows don’t talk back to you, but I would hate to be in this and not love it,” he mused. “Just like some people golf or fish, I farm. It’s the thing that saves your sanity.”

Staying involved with Charolais breeders also brought Clark into contact with Coach Jim Cullivan, who Clark says, “gave me the college ‘rah, rah’ to start a state association”. It was back in 1981 when Coach Cullivan made his plea, talking about how people didn’t know each other and the value of meeting others. And it was from that inspiring appeal that Clark was motivated into sending out cards to see if anyone was interested. The rest is history, history that shares an evolution similar to that of the AICA and joins with Clark’s theory that “we can do more as an association than we can individually.”

Proud of the accomplishments the Tennessee association has made in supporting kids and the future of the Charolais breed, Clark has strong advice for those looking toward a future in the cattle business.

“Once an attorney asked me how I got in the cattle business,” said Clark. “I replied, ‘I bought a cow.’” While the attorney was hardly amused; Clark says, “I don’t think that is very smart today. You have to have your homework done and if you’re going into the purebred business, you have to have a business plan before you jump into the fire.”

DOSEAGE AND ADMINISTRATION

LONGRANGE™ (eprinomectin) should be given only by subcutaneous injection in front of the shoulder at the recommended dosage level of 1 mg eprinomectin per kg body weight (1 mL per 110 lb body weight).

WARNINGS AND PRECAUTIONS

Withdrawal Periods and Residue Warnings

Animals intended for human consumption must not be slaughtered within 48 days of the last treatment.

This drug product is not approved for use in female dairy cattle 20 months of age or older, including dry dairy cows. Use in these cattle may cause drug residues in milk and/or in calves born to these cows.

A withdrawal period has not been established for pre-ruminating calves. Do not use in calves to be processed for veal.

Animal Safety Warnings and Precautions

The product is likely to cause tissue damage at the site of injection, including possible granulomas and necrosis. These reactions have disappeared without treatment. Local tissue reaction may result in trim loss of edible tissue at slaughter.

Observe cattle for injection site reactions. If injection site reactions are suspected, consult your veterinarian. This product is not for intravenous or intramuscular use. Protect product from light. LONGRANGE™ (eprinomectin) has been developed specifically for use in cattle only. This product should not be used in other animal species.

When to Treat Cattle with Grubs

LONGRANGE effectively controls all stages of cattle grubs. However, proper timing of treatment is important. For the most effective results, cattle should be treated as soon as possible after the end of the heel fly (warble fly) season.

Environmental Hazards

Not for use in cattle managed in feedlots or under intensive rotational grazing because the environmental impact has not been evaluated for these scenarios.

Other Warnings: Underdosing and/or subtherapeutic concentrations of extended-release anthelmintic products may encourage the development of parasite resistance. It is recommended that parasite resistance be monitored following the use of any anthelmintic with the use of a fecal egg count reduction test program.

TARGET ANIMAL SAFETY

Clinical studies have demonstrated the wide margin of safety of LONGRANGE™ (eprinomectin). Overdosing at 3 to 5 times the recommended dose resulted in a statistically significant reduction in average weight gain when compared to the group tested at label dose. Treatment-related lesions observed in most cattle administered the product included swelling, hyperemia, or necrosis in the subcutaneous tissue of the skin. The administration of LONGRANGE at 3 times the recommended therapeutic dose had no adverse reproductive effects on beef cows at all stages of breeding or pregnancy or on their calves. Not for use in bulls, as reproductive safety testing has not been conducted in males intended for breeding or actively breeding. Not for use in calves less than 3 months of age because safety testing has not been conducted in calves less than 3 months of age.

STORAGE

Store at 77° F (25° C) with excursions between 59° and 86° F (15° and 30° C). Protect from light.

Building 2 Solid Breeding Programs

Have you got a game plan?

We appreciate an outstanding herd sire or superior brood cow no matter the bloodline or breed. A good animal is, well, a good animal! Every year some really sharp looking Charolais walk thru the show rings across the country. We're thankful for all the sweat, blood and tears a good show animal represents. Some of these champions might go on and breed true for many breeding seasons to come.

And we really admire those outstanding performing herd sires that match their individual performance with high EPDs and superior confirmation.

However you won't find us chasing after the newest high seller or the many times champion unless they fit into our game plan. It might take us a little longer to get there but you'll be able to trust our end result.

Our goal is to produce a winning product backed by a game plan which includes: easy calving, an abundance of growth and superior milking ability. Purchase our breeding stock with the confidence that they will work for you.

Dear Charolais Friends,

Welcome to our 3rd Annual Female Sale. These are exciting times for the cattle industry. As Charolais cross feeder cattle continue to top the feeder cattle sales for both weight and price it feels good to be part of a breed that is needed and has purpose in the commercial cattle industry.

Chris, Cody, Justin and I have worked hard to develop functional, breed-leading genetics with eye appeal and performance that are easy fleshing and that work on any tough grass conditions.

We believe you will be pleased with our offering as it is painful for me to part with these outstanding females, but with our aggressive ET program we can share many of our best with you.

Please join us for a good time and good cattle on Dec. 7th.

Derry Wright

Dear Cattlemen,

Welcome to our 3rd annual female sale. Thank you for taking the time to evaluate our offering, we believe there is something for everyone.

The open heifer division features females that will be competitive at any show in the country. Championship blood flows through them, as 7 of the 8 are sired by National Champions. The remaining heifer's sire has two National Champion maternal brothers. More importantly, these females come from either proven donor dams or some of the most productive up and coming females in our herd. When their time in the limelight is over these heifers should make outstanding cows.

This year's set of bred heifers is the best we've offered yet. They are daughters of top producing females in our herd and some the most heavily used AI sires in the country. As a bonus, they are bred to one of the hottest calving ease sires in the breed LT Long Distance 9001.

The bred cow group is from the heart of our herd. These productive females have passed every test. They breed back quickly and raise marketable offspring. Being bred to the multiple trait leader New Standard offers considerable earning potential for the purchaser.

At Wright Charolais we strive to raise functional cattle that work in all aspects of the cattle industry. We use EPD's to help measure calving ease and performance but just as importantly our herd is culled rigorously for the traits you can't see on paper such as fertility, feet and structure, udder shape, and overall eye appeal.

If any of us can assist you with your purchase feel free to contact us,

Chris Peuster

Your choice of one or both of these two ET masterpieces. Again, Rapid Fire brings forth the beautiful pattern and eye-appeal and the dam adds more attractive eye-appeal, length and thickness. The story of "the awaking" of the dam of these heifers is still one of my favorite tidbits. She sold in the 2011 Sonderup Female Sale and no less than seven breeders left on order bids with this sale manager in the $5,000 range and two more breeders wanted to be on the phone. Several other breeders passed on bidding not quite believing that she was that good! When the smoke cleared Mike Kisner and Rick Hale made the smart buy at $10,000 on the phone. More "deals" were made after she arrived in Missouri and the "believing" began! She is an awesome beast, check these daughters out. Presented with Ridder Farms and Wild Indian Acres

- Both are sired by National Champions, but this heifer may well be the one to set your sachel down on!
- Her dam is #440's stoutest featured, most powerfully constructed daughter to date, with an ideal udder.
- She has passed this on to her big-boned, wide-chested, bold-ribbed daughter that you see before you.
- This young female will certainly generate some extremely powerful progeny when her competitive show career is over.
- She is entered in the Denver National Charolais Show.

Sells open, ready to flush.

• It won't take you long to get great results from flushing this proven donor to your herd sire. She gets the job done with every mating ever tired on her to date. • This beautiful patterned female was destined for the transplant pen after producing her first calf on 3-26-06 to a 820 lbs. adjusted weaning weight to ratio 127! • That herd bull WCCC Brothers Keeper 6093 was a premier herd sire for seven years at Wooden Cross Cattle Company. • She has produced five herd sires with an average weaning weight of 741.2 lbs. Those young yearling bulls averaged over $6,000 each at auction. • Several of her daughters remain in both the Wright and Cody Cattle herds and they are some of their very best uddered and easy keeping females. • Her maternal dam and grand dam were two of the Baldrige herds very best, with both producing multiple ET progeny across the U.S.

Welcome to Volume III of The Showgirls Sale.

You are in for a special treat this year for this fantastic offering! One only needs to gaze through the pictures and pedigrees in this catalog to see what an opportunity awaits you. If you're looking for that next champion, if you're looking for some broody, young heifers to replace your current donor or front pasture females; your look is over! Don't forget the breed influencing embryos, E.T. choices and the flush that round out this offering.

The Ridder family and their guest consignors are truly excited about this set of genetics, and hope that you will find them as exceptional as we do. There will be videos of many of these lots available to view before the sale and sale day hook up to DV Auction. If any of us can assist you with your preferences, please give us a call.

LOT 1

We start this catalog with an extremely attractive, fancy heifer sired by the 2012 Denver Reserve Grand Champion Bull Quiet Riot and out of one of our strongest donor cow families. Her sire attracted lots of attention during his show career with his outstanding profile and look, along with numerous champions in his pedigree. The first Quiet Riot heifer that sold at public auction sold for $27,000 and this will be the second daughter of his to sell. When you combine in the #7515 donor on the bottom side for that extra cow pedigree punch, you have it all. This heifer is super feminine and attractive up through her front one-third, while combining plenty of rib shape and natural muscle dimension. She is entered in the American Royal show and on to the National Show in Denver.

Our second example of this great producing cow line. The Ridders put in the Canadian outcross sire Sanchez on the top side of #7515, after he sired the 2012 Denver Grand Champion Diablo and the 2013 National Reserve Grand Champion Bull Encore! With #7515's attractiveness and correctness in her lines they knew Sanchez would bring some more power to the equation and boy did it! The maternal sister to these two heifers sired by X-Factor sold for $5,000 in last year's sale and went on to the National Show in Fort Worth in February to be named the National Reserve Junior Calf Champion for new owner junior Ty Dybdal in Nebraska.

X-Factor continues to impress the Ridder's and the rest of the breed year in and year out for his consistency in his progeny. He stamps them with that show ring look, while still maintaining the maternal traits we strive for in females. This heifer and the next one are darn near full sisters and they both portray that image. This great heifer is also entered in the American Royal show in November.

Don't overlook this red composite. She is sired by our Show Bull of the Year and out of a very productive half-blood cow that is out of the club calf legend Who Made Who and on the bottom side a Hoodoo bloodline. Who Made Who females continue to be in top demand around the country. This heifer is a full sib to a great heifer in last year's sale that our good friend Stetter couldn't go home without! She is sired by the Field Rep bull that sired a National Champion Female and she traces back to the good HEP (Harold E. Pate) Joan cow family. You knew it was Mr. Pate's best female after he named her after his wife Joan! This cow has a great EPD spread and in the three years the Ridder's have owned her she has produced four heifer progeny for them. They have retained her 2012 daughter as a replacement and her 2011 daughter sells in this sale as Lot 40. An earlier heifer sold to the Witter Family in Indiana and now she has twin heifers.

Due to calve January 29, 2014 to JDJ Smokester J1377 P ET.

We need to talk a little more about this #008K cow family. The dam of this cow was Troy Thomas' pick of the entire Bowman Charolais Dispersal and we purchased her in the Thomas Mature Cow Herd Dispersal in 2005. At ten years of age 008K co-topped the Ridder Farms New Decade Sale at $7,000 selling to Harold Good, Tescott, Kansas. Her ten-month old daughter by Stroker's Ace was the other co-top seller at $7,000! Another daughter of lot 51 was sold to Ciara Raithe, she and her father tell Derek that she is one of the best cow purchases they have ever made! Tiger Country Charolais purchased another daughter of lot 51 in last year's Showgirls Sale.

This cow and her heifer calf were the high-selling heifer calf pair in the December 2010 Thomas Mature Cow Herd Dispersal for $7,000. In the spring the Ridder's sold that heifer calf off to Texas for $11,000! Only because the Ridder's are selling all of the 7 year-old cows does she become available.

LT Bluegrass 4017 (2004-2013)

Without a doubt, LT Bluegrass leaves a lasting imprint on the Charolais breed worldwide. An unmatched balance of calving-ease, docility, doing ability and profitable carcass quality defines his legacy. His practical traits are just as important today as they were when he came on the scene nearly 10 years ago.

Likewise, the next generation of sons, like LT Ledger 0332 and LT Blue Value 7903, are beginning to forge an imprint of their own. Consider these three homozygous polled sires to imprint your herd for years to come.
